

Bridge the Gap to 'Impossible' with Team Collaboration

The Experience

You are a vital member of The Coral Banks Construction Company and must construct a perfectly engineered bridge to span and protect a delicate ecosystem. It's a huge project that has to conform to rigorous standards – and every minute counts! Self limitations will be shattered as you realize that this overwhelming task is actually possible. You'll be amazed as team focus, leadership, communication, co-operation and execution come together in tangible results right before your eyes, and by your own hands. Your individual role is crucial, but as part of a team and a team-of-teams, your potential for achievement is immense. And the experience doesn't end there. Your sense of accomplishment and the valuable lessons learned will seamlessly dovetail into your working relationships and accelerate the pursuit of your goals back on the job.
